

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ORDER REPRINTING OF REPUBLICAN BALLOT FOR THE PRIMARIES

Means Work Tonight and Tomorrow for Tuesday Delivery.

PRICE WAS LESS THAN COST

Turned Out by Democratic Newspaper. But Commissioner Hoover Declined to Stand for It; Leaders Expect Good Vote Out Tuesday.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, May 13.—The County Commissioners have ordered the Republican ballots for use at the primaries next Tuesday in the county reported. The Democratic newspaper in Uniontown was the lowest bidder about two weeks ago when the bids for printing the ballots were opened, the price being less than the cost of the materials and labor. The ballots were delivered to the Commissioners yesterday morning. The ballots for each voting precinct were in a sealed package. The Commissioners opened the packages and discovered that on the Republican ballots the voting squares had not been placed opposite the names of the candidates, and it was found that it would be almost impossible for a voter to mark a ticket for delegates-at-large and alternates to the Chicago convention.

Even the Democratic Commissioners, George L. Hoover, refused to stand for the use of the printed ballots, and the publishers of the Democratic newspaper were told that the ballots had not been printed according to specifications and were ordered to reprint them.

The reprinting of the ballots may occasion some delay in getting them to the election officers. The clerks in the commissioners' office will be compelled to work all night tonight and all day Sunday in order to have the ballots in the hands of the election boards next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock when the polls open.

While there has been little interest taken in the statewide fight between Senator Penrose and Governor Drumbaugh in Fayette county, the leaders here expect that there will be a good vote out next Tuesday. The Republicans in Fayette county are anxious to give Harmon M. Kephart, of Connellsville, a large vote for State Treasurer. His nomination is conceded in all quarters, and practically every county in the state is figured on going for Kephart. Robert P. Hopwood, of Uniontown, is the Republican candidate for Governor in Fayette county, and the Republican party in Fayette county will support the candidates on the state ticket favored by Senator Penrose, which includes candidates for delegates to the Chicago convention who are not pledged to vote for Governor Drumbaugh or any other candidate for President. The Penrose slate which will be supported is:

United States Senator, Philander C. Knox.
State Treasurer, Harmon M. Kephart.
Auditor General, Charles A. Snyder.
Congressman-at-Large, Thomas S. Crage.
Mahlon M. Harshbarger, Joseph M. Lamborn and Rudolph Sobel.
Delegates-at-Large, Joseph G. Armstrong, Edward V. Babcock, W. Harry Baker, James Elverson, Jr., David L. Gillespie, Alva B. Johnson, Guy W. Moore, George T. Oliver, Miles Penrose, William E. Rice, George K. Scott and John W. Wampler.

Alternate Delegates-at-Large, John W. Ford, Thomas H. Garvin, Henry P. Haas, Frank J. Lanthorn, Charles Matthes, Gabriel H. Meyer, Joseph W. Pascoe, Reese A. Phillips, William Price, Milton P. Schantz, Edward L. Swindell and George H. White.

LACED CORSET TOO TIGHT AND HUBBY STARTED DIVORCE

Court, However, Frowns on Cruel Treatment Charge Assigned.

TROUBLES OF DOVE FAMILY

Can't Maintain Cruel and Barbarous Treatment Allegations When Husband and Wife Are Not Living Together; Claim Wife Neglected Child.

UNIONTOWN, May 13.—Mrs. Emma Cecile Dove, 19 years old and pretty, of Leokrone, has won her fight in opposition to her husband, John C. Dove, a well known young man of Uniontown, securing a divorce. Following the taking of testimony at two hearings before Attorney Joseph W. Ray, Jr., the master appointed by the court, there has come a recommendation that the petition for a divorce be refused. Dove sought his divorce on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment, alleging that his wife "did wilfully neglect to care for and nurse her infant child, and did cause the said child to sicken and die." They were married November 7, 1914, at Cumberland.

In his report to the court the master says: "After considering all the evidence offered, the master is of the opinion that the facts proved do not come within the meaning of the statute. The evidence does not establish that the neglect of the respondent actually contributed in any way to the death of this child. It was a premature child and it is a matter of common knowledge that a large majority of such children do not survive."

Concluding the report, the master says: "In this case the only treatment of himself personally complained of by the libellant is the respondent's refusal to comply with his requests to stop lacing herself, her refusal to nurse her baby on the second day after its birth, and a statement which she alleges the respondent made in his home several weeks before the child was born. In which the respondent denies, to the effect that she would 'kill it.' In the opinion of the master, these acts are insufficient to establish grounds for divorce under the act of 1855. The acts complained of, when considered in the light of the circumstances of this case, do not amount to cruel and barbarous treatment or indignities to the person."

The divorce first became publicly known a year ago when Mrs. Dove prosecuted her husband for non-support. At that time an order was made requiring Dove to pay his wife $2 a week for her support.

MAYOR MARIETTA SENTENCES 10 NEGROES TO COUNTY JAIL

Eight Men and Two Women Get 20 and 30 Days; Men to Work on County Stone Pile.

Determined to rid the city of undesirable characters by sentencing them so severely that they will not want to appear before him again Mayor Marietta this morning handed out ten jail terms to eight men and two women, all colored. The men will be put to work on the stone pile and they will get severe sentences if they ever appear before the mayor again. Eight of the ten given jail sentences were arrested in a disorderly house on South Arch street last evening by Assistant Chief W. D. Meyers, Plain Clothes Officer J. W. DeLoach and Policemen Barnes and Murphy. Six of the negroes were arrested there and two women also.

Complaints had been made to the police several times about the house and all the inmates were arrested last evening when the officers raided it. Thomas Dyer, Joseph Pickett, John Irwin, Charles Parker, Moses Brooks and Thomas Conway were all fined $10 or 20 days' hard work on the county stone pile. Nellie McKee and Florence Bustake were given 20 days and 30 days respectively.

The Bustake woman, who is married but does not live with her husband, has five children. Two are old enough to take care of themselves, and the others will be taken to the county house.

Two other negroes, Joe Moore and John Messer, were arrested yesterday morning for throwing bricks at each other, and were given 30 days each. Both will be put on the stone pile.

This is only the first move the police are making to rid Connellsville of bad characters. There are several places in the city where their congregation, one of them being under the Young bridge. This place will be cleared out and kept clean.

There were 22 prisoners given hearings before the mayor this morning, police court lasting almost an hour. The remaining 12 were given 48 hour sentences.

TO ELECTRIFY PART OF THE WESTERN MARYLAND RAILROAD

Line Between Fairmont and Clarksburg to be Electrified by Local Traction Company.

An arrangement has been concluded between the officials of the Western Maryland railroad and the Monongahela Valley Traction Company at Fairmont, whereby that portion of the former company's line including branches between Fairmont and Clarksburg is to be electrified. By terms of the agreement the steam road will do all its work at night, turning over the tracks to the electric company during the day and evening. This means that there will be regular traction service over the road without being interfered with by the train movement of the evening company. The steam road will handle all of the freight and carload consignments of the traction company. All passenger traffic will be cared for by the traction company.

The branch lines of the Western Maryland between Fairmont and Clarksburg points will also be reached by the new service. At Worthington a six mile extension is being made up Helen's run to Carolina and Ida May, while the extension now building from Clarksburg to Wyalusing, 10 miles in length, will reach the city of Altoona. Altogether there will be eventually about 30 miles of track operated under the new plan. A number of new mining towns are in course of erection in the territory all of which will be served.

It is planned to enter upon the electrification work as promptly as possible. Special cars for the passenger service have already been ordered by the traction company.

AGREE ON ARMY BILL

Arms of 200,000 Peace Strength; Ratification Next Week.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A regular army of 200,000 men at peace strength capable of expansion to 250,000 men in time of war was agreed upon today by House and Senate conferees on the army reorganization bill, first of the big National Defense measures. The report will be submitted to both branches of Congress for ratification next week.

Provision for vocational training for men in the regular army regulated by the Secretary of War was in the bill and the House proposal for government operation of nitrate manufacturing plants to cost not more than $20,000,000 was accepted. Selection of sites was left to the President. The product of the plant when not needed in war time may be sold for fertilizer.

NORTH CAROLINA ORPHAN WANTS TO GO BACK TO FARM

Boy Enthusiastic After Hike From Cleveland to Smithfield.

IS SHY OF FREIGHT TRAINS

Stephen Sanders, Aged 13, Undertook to Walk From Ohio to North Carolina, But Is Detained by Smithfield Authorities; Returns to Stepfather.

Special to The Courier.
SMITHFIELD, May 13.—En route from Cleveland, O., to the home of his stepfather in North Carolina, traveling about, Stephen Sanders, aged 13, was picked up at the Baltimore & Ohio railroad station here last evening. The lad was taken in charge by Constable Arison and brought before Justice of the Peace O'Neill for an investigation of his case.

When questioned by the "squire" the boy said he is an orphan, both his parents having died several years ago. His home was in North Carolina, he said, and after his father died his mother married again. Later his mother passed away and young Sanders made his home with his stepfather until several weeks ago when he was sent to Cleveland to live with a stepbrother. The lad was not welcomed in the Forest City, however, his stepbrother turning him away.

Perkins, the boy found it no easy matter to subsist "without money and without price" among strangers in Cleveland and he started his long tramp back to North Carolina, where his stepfather is a well-to-do farmer. "I want to go back to the farm," the boy told the Smithfield authorities. He said he hiked it the whole way here from Cleveland, not attempting to ride freight trains on account of the danger involved. He pleaded with Constable Arison and Squire O'Neill not to send him to the reformatory or house of detention, insisting on returning to his stepfather who, he says, never mistreated him. He said he would start the rest of his journey on the national road to Washington, D. C. He was on the way two weeks here from Cleveland. The boy writes a legible hand.

FOREIGN TRADE TO BE PROMOTED BY NEXT CONGRESS

Hopwood is Confident Next House Will be Republican.

NO GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

Representative of 23rd District is Opposed to Shipping Bill Because He Does Not Favor Government Going Into Any More Business.

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—When the Republicans are once more in control of Congress, as they will be without doubt next session, in the opinion expressed today by Representative Hopwood, of Pennsylvania, they will do some of the things to promote the foreign trade of the United States which the Democratic party is failing to do. He said he was opposed to the shipping bill which the administration is backing, because he did not believe in the government going into any more business than it was now engaged in carrying on. Mr. Hopwood said he was of the opinion that no good would be accomplished by this bill and that it would not help to promote the foreign trade of this country. He was in favor, he said, of the government granting subsidies to private enterprises which went into the shipping business.

"I am confident," said Mr. Hopwood, "that the Republicans will be in control of both branches of Congress next session. The Democrats themselves virtually admit this. In the Pennsylvania delegation I think it is possible we may reduce the number of Democrats, six at present out of 26, by at least two or three."

"When we are in power we will pass some of the legislation which is needed to aid American business in competition in the markets of the world on an equal basis with that from other countries. As was pointed out in a report which has just been made to Congress by the Federal Trade Commission, foreign producers and manufacturers are given every encouragement by their governments, and are allowed to form powerful co-operative agencies through which they are able to undersell in many instances the American business man. This should not be so."

"I believe that a law can be passed which would fully guard all the rights of the people here against the power of monopolies and which would at the same time give to American coal, iron and steel and other producers and manufacturers the right lawfully to organize in such a way that they could compete successfully with the powerfully organized British, German and other foreign selling agencies."

"I do know that it would be possible to have some such legislative provision passed as a rider to the present shipping bill, but I do believe there is need for such legislation and that it will come at the next session when the Republicans get the chance. And along with it will come other legislation which will be of benefit to the American with goods to sell abroad."

"I am opposed to the administration's shipping bill because I do not approve of any more government ownership than we have now. If they have started excavation of the unfinished portion of the Morgantown road which will be bricked by him from the end of the present improved portion in Georges township, through the borough of Fairchance to the borough limits. Fairchance borough will pay for the borough improvements and the county will bear the expense of the work beyond its limits. In all, approximately 10,000 feet of brick will be laid."

Contractors report so difficulty in securing men, the wages paid ranging from $2 to $2.25 per day.

"As for the monopolies getting beyond control if they are allowed to organize selling agencies for securing their foreign markets, there need be no fear of that. Look at the United States Steel Corporation. It is not afraid of publicity, in fact is glad to make its reports public so that everybody can see them. Of its own accord it frequently increases the wages of its workmen, having granted several advancements recently; and it further encourages participation of the public in its affairs by the opportunities it gives its men to buy stock at advantageous prices. And most other big concerns believe are pleased to have the public realize that they are not trying to do anything contrary to the public interest."

"In encouraging the foreign trade Great Britain is in a very different position from the United States, and whereas free trade may be a good thing for that country it could not be for the United States. Great Britain on its little islands depends on the outside world for so much that free trade may be an advantage, and by allowing free trade to other countries she secures similar concessions from them for the goods which she manufactures and sends abroad. But this country is situated very differently and protection act free trade must be had if our industries are to prosper."

JENNINGS ANALYZES JERPE'S LIST OF 6 BEST PITCHERS

Tiger Leader Says Much Knowledge Was Gained
From Contest.

NAMES SOME OLD TIMERS

Getting a Pitcher's or Batter's "Goat" Is That Psychological Effect Where the Master Mind Gets in Work
How Thinker Hits Mathewson.

Hughes Jennings was deeply interested in the "Six Best Pitchers." There's a keen psychology in the art of batting and pitching. Every batter has his Nemesis. Every pitcher has a batter to whom he can't get them by, only on occasional days.

Why is it that Joe Judge always could hit Mathewson? Why is it that Wagner, greatest of all batsmen, was helpless before an ordinary pitcher like Earl Moore? For years it is known to have success against Walter Johnson and the big Northwesterner gets as many hits off Sir Walter as any batter in the American League.

On the other hand we have the success of Ed Walsh when he was in his prime. Big Ed's specialty, the best in history, always proved suitable to the appetites of Detroit hitters. Cleveland, one of the weakest clubs in the American League, frequently had no trouble beating the "smoke king." They had it on him for a long time, but once Johnson, in the role of a pinch-hitter, hit a home run against the Indians and beat them.

Getting a pitcher's or batter's "goat" is that psychological effect where the master mind works on one or the other. Much was learned in the run of the "six best pitchers" contest and it showed the relative caliber of the 100 or more men voted for.

Johnson, with 52 votes, was entitled to the honor and you will notice that the Washington club led with 67 votes. That is a fair ratio of the best pitcher club.

Dauks and Vanaliskie were among the first 12 and Pittsburgh had Max Baer and Adams up in the ranking dozen. In the first 12 American League group the White Sox are represented by the veteran spitball master, Ed Walsh, Jim Scott and Urban Packer. Walsh leads with 24 votes.

In his letter Hughes Jennings told the following funny story on Charlie Griffith and President Noyes:

"If a Detroit pitcher goes to Washington he becomes a great pitcher," complained Noyes.

"Yes," roared Griffith, "and if a Washington pitcher goes to a Detroit uniform he becomes a 300 hitter."

The six best pitchers named by the Tiger leader are:

Jack Taylor and Nic Cappy had fair speed and a fine curve ball with the added advantage of a curve and a good slow ball.

Arabs Rustle—New York Nationals.

Jack Taylor—Chicago Nationals.

Cy Seymour—New York Nationals.

Denton (Cy) Young—Cleveland-Red Sox.

Charles (Kid) Nichols—Boston Nationals.

Nic Cappy—Cleveland Nationals.

Rosie, Nichols and Young had great speed and fast-breaking curves. Cy Seymour also belonged to this class, I omit pitchers of the present day.

At the Theatres.

SOISSON THEATRE.

"THE UNPARDONABLE SIN."—The World Film Corporation will present Holbrook Blinn at the Soisson Theatre today in the five reel sensational society drama, "The Unpardonable Sin." It is a startling realistic drama of a man's rise and fall. The main theme deals with the degeneration of a man addicted to drink and his attempt to reform his life against terrible odds. As subsidiary themes, there are jealousy, murder, Wall Street operations, and a bitter struggle between two men for the love of the same woman. Mr. Blinn plays the role of the man who sinks to the depths of degradation and drags himself back to a position of power in the world through sheer force of character spurred on by the flame of a vengeful spirit. At the height of his new power he is accused of a murder of which he is innocent, and faces the death chair for the sake of his love. His ultimate triumph is brought about through a series of unique and hummously powerful scenes. "Miss Blossom," is a two reel southern drama with Myrtle Gonzalez and Fred Church in the leading roles. It is a beautiful story of a gallant Southerner who sells his plantation to protect his daughter from an unscrupulous man, who is afterwards punished by the lover of the girl. "Chicken Hearted Jim," is a Rex drama with Francis Ford as the star. It is a thrilling tale of a wealthy young man who thinking he had killed a waiter at the club, goes on a voyage and redeems himself. "Stars and Stripes in Mexico," is a Powers special showing the raid on Columbus, N. M. Monday, June Novak appears in the two reel political serial, "Crash," Tuesday, the Red Feather feature, "Sons of Satan," will be the attraction.

THE GLOBE.

"THE KISS OF HATE."—Starring Ethel Barrymore who stands pre-eminent in the ranks of stellar artists of the stage and screen will be shown Monday at the Globe. "The Kiss of Hate" is a Metro production and provides Miss Barrymore with a role that is especially suited to her marvellous dramatic gifts. She is given the fullest opportunity to display the supreme emotional powers which have won for her so high a place on the American stage. Miss Barrymore is one of the foremost members of an illustrious family who have made history on the American stage. She is a daughter of Maurice Barrymore, one of the greatest actors of his time, and a sister of Lionel and Jack Barrymore. Miss Barrymore in "The Kiss of Hate" is supported by a notable cast including H. Cooper Cliffe, the noted English actor, who has himself starred in several stage and screen productions. Niles Welch, Robert Elliot, Victor De Linsky, Martin J. Faust, William Boyd and others. Tuesday, Blanche Sweet will be starred in "The Blacklist," the thrilling drama of social conditions written especially for her by Marion Fairfax and W. G. DeMille. Wednesday, Karen and Bryant Washburn are featured in "The Despatcher," and S. A. drama in three acts. Lillian Gish, Henry Hathaway and Lionel Barrymore appear in "Daphne's Dilemma." Two comedies, "A Molar Mixup," and "Ham and Egg" in "Maybe Moonshine," are included in the bill.

THE ARCADE.

"DAPHNE AND THE PIRATE."—Presenting Lillian Gish, the charming screen idol, and "The Judge," a comedy, are the attractions today of the Arcade. "Daphne and the Pirate" is a five part Triangle release, and the story is intensely interesting from the beginning to the end. Tiring of the idle life at court young Philip De Mornay goes on a hunting trip with his father, Duc De Mornay. Philip comes across Daphne La Tour, the daughter of the gamekeeper. As she eludes him he has some toughs in his pay to steal her. She is taken to the house of one Fauchette in Paris. All the women of this place are seized by officers and sent on a ship to America, where they are to be auctioned off as wives for the planters. Meanwhile Philip has quarreled with the King's counsellor. In a fight he thinks he has killed the official

Facts Versus Fallacies

FACT is a real state of things. FALLACY is an apparently genuine but really illogical statement or argument.

THERE is no more interesting story of Prohibition FALLACY than that of Maine, which became the first "dry" State some 65 years ago. Indisputably a Prohibition law ought to prevail in Maine after long effort if such a statute can be made enforceable. But FACTS and figures presented by L. Ames Brown, in the North American Review for November, show how "wet" Maine really is—under Prohibition folly.

AS a proof that Prohibition is not decreasing consumption, official figures bear witness to the FACT that in 1896, in Maine, there were 178 convictions for illegal selling of liquors—while ten years later, in 1906, these figures had increased to 707 convictions for illegal selling, almost four times as many as ten years previous. Prohibition was having a mighty hard time prohibiting!

ANOTHER point of view: Commenting upon the re submission to popular vote in 1912 of the Prohibition question in Maine, Secretary of State C. W. Davis remarked:

"IN one of the most strenuous campaigns this State has ever witnessed, in which the friends of Prohibition mustered to their aid the most influential platform orators the nation could produce, a campaign in which churches were organized, pulpits turned into political forums, children equipped with campaign songs, a publicity fund estimated at $200,000 used, 520 towns supplied with arguments, and with little work on the part of the opposition, the Prohibitory law, supported in 1884 by a majority of 48,000, was retained by a paltry 758 votes. The official vote was as follows: 60,095 for repeal, 60,853 for retention of the law. The result of this last election, if it proves anything, shows that the electorate of Maine were honestly wide apart in their views as to the value of the law."

ONE-HALF of the counties voted in 1912 for repeal of Maine's Prohibition law; 19 of the 20 cities voted for repeal by an aggregate majority of 10,000 votes; and 60,095 citizens voted in 1912 against continuance of Prohibition, as compared to only 23,413 that voted against repeal of the State's "dry" law in 1894.

IT begins to look, in view of the FACTS above, as if the oldest Prohibition State in the country was beginning to see the futility and FALLACY of Prohibition—after 65 years of experiment!

WATCH ACID MOUTHS

Acid in the mouth is dangerous. It promotes decay of teeth. It may lead to pyorrhea and it causes ill health in many ways.
There is a sure, safe way to correct, cleanse and rid the mouth of acid. Nothing is superior to hyclorite, the remarkably effective antiseptic obtained at any drug store. It at once removes disease germs and stops decay. It cleanses, heals and purifies.
It has no disagreeable taste and leaves the mouth clean and free from bad breath odors and removes acid.
Get a bottle of hyclorite for its economical and can be used for many purposes in the home.

Northern Connelville Coke Company
Settles County Home Claim.
An action recently brought against the Northern Connelville Coke Company by Charles E. Sanoor, superintendent of the Westmoreland county home, has been determined by an amicable settlement.
Some time ago the county poor of coal under the county farm. It was charged that miners for the company drove the heading beyond the right of way limits.

In settling the case the company agreed to pay attorney's fees and all costs, and 50 cents a ton for 13,061 tons of coal.

But, instead of merely grinding against said Earth, for traction, they CLING to it, much as your bare foot clings to slippery surfaces.

This new and wonderful Goodrich "Barefoot Rubber," is as stretchy almost as a pure Rubber band.
—Light-weight as Rubber in its native amber color, but stronger, tougher, longer-wearing (in Tires) than pure Rubber could ever be.

That Lightness, Stretch, and CLING-quality is due, in part, to the absence of the heavy and inert white substances which, in other Tires, provide the gritty texture designed to give effective but grinding Traction, when Clutch or Brakes do their work.

To provide its maximum Traction with minimum Friction (which means minimum Heat, minimum Tread-Wear, and lessened Strain on the rubber adhesive between fabric layers.)

That's the Mission of the new Goodrich "Barefoot Rubber."

How well it does this work—how much more Resilience, Comfort-in-riding, and Mileage, it gives,— may be realized only by test.

"BAREFOOT RUBBER" can be had in Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires,—Goodrich Motorcycle Tires,—Goodrich Bicycle Tires,— Goodrich Truck Tires,—Goodrich Rubber Boots, Overshoes, Soles and Heels, and in no other make but Goodrich.

Get a sample of it, at the nearest Goodrich Branch or Depot today.

Stretch it thousands of times, but tear its fibres you can't.

With all this,—observe that the best Fabric Tires in America—made of this TENACIOUS "Barefoot" Rubber,—cost you no more (and usually less), than ordinary Tires made by other responsible manufacturers.

No "larger-sized" Tires (taken Size for Size and Type for Type), are made than Goodrich Black-Tread Tires.

Why, then, should any Business Man pay more than the Goodrich "Fair-List" Price, for any Tire, until he has at least tested one pair of these new "Barefoot" Rubber Goodrich Tires?

CAMPAIGN TO CLOSE

"Sunny Jim," the Evangelist Will Close Meetings Tomorrow.

Sunday will mark the closing of great revival services which are being held in the Mount Carmel Evangelical Church at Pittsford by Rev. James Lowe, the noted evangelist, better known as "Sunny Jim." The campaign has been the most successful ever held in that community and tomorrow promises to be a red letter day in the history of the church.

The evangelist will speak at 10.30 A. M., 3 P. M. and 7.30 P. M. The three services will be open to all so as those who come a great distance may be accommodated. Last Sunday many persons brought their lunch in order to secure good seats. Tables and seats have been placed in the basement for the use of persons who expect to bring their lunch tomorrow. A large number of trail hikers have responded to the call of Evangelist Lowe and the people of the community feel they have derived much good from the campaign.

DELEGATE-AT-LARGE

IF you think the situation in the Nation and the Party calls for the election of clean, strong, clear-thinking men,—outright, red-blooded Americans,—Republicans who keep their own consciences,—VOTE FOR POWELL.

IF NOT, vote against him, for he isn't your man.

To vote for him, look half-way down the list of candidates for delegate-at-large. You'll find his name there, right after those of the two United States senators. Put it AHEAD of their names in the election returns by marking a cross as indicated here:

PEOPLE FAVOR ORGANIZATION

Over Sixty-five Delegates Friendly to Senator Penrose Will be Chosen for Republican Convention—Control of State Committee to Remain in Hands of Present Organization.

Philadelphia, May 9.—Senator Penrose will head the Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican National Convention. It will be composed of more than sixty-five uncommitted delegates who will be free to vote for the most available candidate for President. Of the comparatively few delegates who will be elected with instructions there is a likelihood that some will join the majority in view of Governor Brumbaugh's declaration that he is not a genuine candidate for the presidency.

The entire twelve candidates for delegate-at-large favorable to the present organization, namely, Senator Penrose, John Wanamaker, Alva B. Johnson and James Elverson, of Philadelphia; E. V. Babcock, David L. Gillespie, Mayor Joseph G. Armstrong and Senator Oliver, of Allegheny; W. Harry Baker, of Dauphin; Guy W. Moore of Luzerne; George K. Skell, of Somerset, together with at least fifty-two uncommitted district delegates, will be elected.

Every underhand method of political warfare has been attempted by those who would wrest the leadership from Senator Penrose and bring destruction to the Republican organization. Perhaps the most daring was the effort made through intimidation and trickery to have candidates friendly to Senator Penrose declare for the so-called popular choice. The fact that but three were misled into doing this is the best evidence of the futility of the fight against Senator Penrose.

A remarkable feature of the fight for control of the state committee—if it can be called a fight—is that no matter what may happen at the primaries, the committee will not change hands. The reason is that in a majority of the districts of the state the Penrose element is so firmly entrenched that it did not file petitions for state committeemen. As a result, fifty-nine of the committee friendly to Senator Penrose, or more than one-half the entire number, will be elected without opposition.

This control of the state committee means that Senator Penrose will be elected to the National Committee from Pennsylvania and that Senator William E. Crow will continue as chairman of the Republican State Committee.

"And it is my ambition to make enough money to have him with me," she announced. With an air of some importance she continued: "I'll tell you a secret. I'm waiting for the magazine—stories!" She sat back awaiting his enthusiasm. When she saw that it was not forthcoming she exclaimed: "My, how you do love over the head!"

"I congratulate you, of course, but—now, don't tell me that you tried it. Of course you did. I know it's a harmless disease, like the measles, and that everybody has it when they're young. Above all, don't let the information that your own life is full of romance and would make a splendid novel. They'll say that!"

Murray O'Neil felt the glow of personal interest that results from the discovery in another of a congenial sense of humor.

"I didn't suppose you had to write," he said. "Dan told me you had invested your fortune and were on Easy Street."

"That was poetic license. I fictionalized slightly in my report to him because I knew he was doing so well."

"Then your investment didn't turn out fortunately?"

Miss Appleton hesitated. "You seem to be a kindly, trusting person. I'm tempted to destroy your faith in human nature."

"Please don't."

"Yes, I shall. My experience may help you to avoid the pitfalls of high finance. Well, then, it was a very and little fortune, to begin with, like a boy in grammar school—just big enough to be of no substance. But even a boy's size fortune looked big to me. I wanted to invest it in something sure—no national bank stock, subject to the danger of an ascending candle, mind you; no government bonds with the possibility of war to depreciate them, but something stable and agricultural, with the inexhaustible resources of nature back of it. This isn't my own imagination. I cribbed it from the apple man."

"Apple man?"

"Yes. He had brown eyes and a silky mustache and a big irrigation plan over east of the mountains. You gave him your money and he gave you a perfectly good receipt. Then he planted little apple trees. He nursed them tenderly for five years, after which he turned them over to you with his irrigation and you lived happily for evermore. At least that was the idea. You could not fail to grow rich, for the water always bubbled through his little ditch, and it never froze nor failed to spoil things. I used to love apples. And then there was my name, which secured a good owner. But lately I've considered changing 'Appleton' to 'Berry' or 'Plummer' or some other kind of fruit."

"I infer that the scheme failed."

O'Neil's eyes were half closed with amusement.

"Yes. It was a good scheme, too, except for the fact that the irrigation ditch ran uphill and that there wasn't any water where it started from and that apples never had been made to grow in that locality because of something in the soil and that brown-eyed Betty's little to the land wouldn't hold water any more than the ditch. Otherwise I'm sure he'd have made a success and I'd have spent my declining years in a rocking chair under the falling apple blossoms, eating pippins and Jonathans and Northern Spies. I can't bear to touch them now. Life at my boarding house is one long battle against apple pies, apple puddings, apple turnovers. Ugh! I hate the very word."

"I can understand your aversion," laughed O'Neil. "I wonder if you would let me order dinner for both of us, provided I taboos fruit. Perhaps I'll think of something more to tell you about Dan. I'm sure he wouldn't object."

"Oh, my card is all the chapter I need. I take me everywhere and readers me superior to the simpler conventionalities." She handed him mine, and he read, "Eliza V. Appleton—The Review."

"May I ask what the 'V' stands for?" He held up the card between his thumb and finger.

Miss Appleton blushed for all the world like a boy, then answered stiffly: "It stands for Violet. But that isn't my fault, and I'm doing my best to live it down."

On her return to the Review office the managing editor complimented Miss Appleton on her work and surprised her by asking her to Alaska to expose the men who were "trying to smother control of the empire."

CHAPTER VIII. THE TOWN OF OMAR.

THE town of Omar lay drenched in mist as the steamer bearing the representative of the Review drew in at the dock. The whole region was sodden and rain soaked, verdant with a lush growth. No summer sun shone here to bake sprouting leaves or sear tender grasses. Beneath the sheltering firs a blanket of moss extending over hill and vale, knee deep and treacherous to the foot. Omar itself was a wretched city, sprung up by magic, as if the dampness at its very heart caused it to rise overnight. A sawmill shrieked complacently; a noisy switch engine whistled rows of dirt cars back and forth, tooting lustily; the rattle of a steam winch and the creak of stoves over a discharge freighter echoed against the hillsides.

windows and a suit of wicker furniture.

"Where he dug all that up I don't know," Dan said, pointing to the bed and dresser and chairs. "He must have had it hidden out somewhere."

Eliza surveyed this chamber with wondering eyes. "It makes me feel quite ashamed," she said, "though of course, he did it for Dan. When he discovers my abominable mission he'll probably set me out in the rain and break all my lead pencils. But isn't he magnificent?"

"He quite overdoes it," Natalie agreed. "Back in New York he's been sending the American Beauties every week for more than a year. It's his princely way." She colored slightly despite the easy frankness of her manner.

"You are still working miracles," Natalie told O'Neil an hour later, while he was showing his visitors the few sights of Omar, "miracles of industry, as usual."

Dan and his sister were following at a distance, arm in arm and chattering like magpies.

"No, no! That cottage is nothing. Miss Appleton had to have some place to stop."

"That all seems like magic," Natalie paused and looked over the busy little town. "And to think you have done it in a year."

"It was not I who did it; the credit belongs to these boys of whom I told you. They are all here, by the way, Parker, McKay, Mellon, Sheldon, Doc Gray—he has the hospital, you know."

"Oh, we couldn't exist without Harry Tonal. No, the only miracle about all this is the loyalty that has made it possible. It is that which has broken all records in railroad building; that's what has pushed our trucks forward until we're nearly up to one of nature's great miracles. You shall see those glaciers one of these days. Sometimes I wonder if even the devotion of those men will carry us through the final test. But—you shall meet them all to-night—my whole family."

"I can't. The ship leaves this afternoon."

"I've arranged to send you to Hope in my motorboat. Just as Mr. Gordon sent me on my way a year ago. Now will stay with the Appletons tonight and help at the house warming, then Dan will take you on in the morning. Women are such rare guests at Omar that we refuse to part with them. You agree?"

"How can I refuse? Your word seems to be law here. I'll send word to mother by the ship that I am detained by royal decree."

She spoke with a gaiety that seemed a little forced, and a mention of her departure a subtle change had come over her face. O'Neil realized that she had nurtured markedly since his last meeting with her; there was no longer quite the same effect of naive girlhood.

"This was a very unhappy year for your loyal subject, Mr. O'Neil."

"I'm sorry," he declared with such genuine kindness that she was moved to confide in him.

"Mother and I are ruined."

"Will you tell me about it?"

"It's merely—those wretched coal chutes. I have a friend in the land of ice at Washington, and remembering what you said, I asked him to look them up. I knew no other way to go."

"What?" Dan's face fell. "You are going to attack the chief?"

about it. He tells me that something was done, or was not done, by us, and that we have lost all we put in."

"I urged Gordon to obey that ruling last spring," Natalie said that his face was dark with indignation, and the knowledge that he really cared set her heart to pounding gratefully. She was half tempted to tell about that other, that greater trouble which had woven in upon her peace of mind and robbed her of her childhood, but she shrank from boring her wounds—above all, a wound so vital and so personal as this.

"Does your mother know?" he queried.

"No, I preferred to tell her in Mr. Gordon's presence." Murray noticed that she no longer called the man uncle. "But now that the time has come I'm frightened."

"Never allow yourself to be afraid. Fear is something false; it doesn't exist."

"It seems to me he was—unfaithful to his trust. Am I right?"

"That is something you must judge for yourself," he told her gravely. "You see, I don't know anything about the reasons which prompted him to sacrifice your rights. He may have had very good reasons. I dare say he had. In building this railroad I have felt but one regret—that is the indirect effect it may have upon you and your mother. Your affairs are linked closely with Gordon's, and the success of my enterprise will mean the failure of his."

"You mustn't feel that way. I'm sure it won't be at all, for we have nothing more to lose. Sometimes I think his judgment is faulty, erratic, wonderful man though he is. Mother trusts him blindly, of course, and so do I, yet I hardly know what to do. It is impossible that he did worse than make a mistake."

Her dark eyes were bent upon Murray, and they were eloquent with the question which she could not bring herself to ask. He longed to tell her frankly that Curtis Gordon was a charlatan, or even worse, and that his latest schemes were doomed to failure by the very nature of his methods, but instead he said:

"I'm deeply distressed. I hope things are not as bad as you think and that Mr. Gordon will be able to straighten them out for you. If ever I can be of service you must be sure to call upon me."

Her thanks were conventional, but in her heart was a deep, warm gratitude, for she knew that he meant what he said and would not fail her.

Dan Appleton, eyeing Natalie and his chief from a distance, exclaimed admiringly:

"She's a perfect peach, ain't she? Registered a home run with me the first time at bat!"

"She is nice."

"You know a fellow gets mighty lonely in a place like this. She'd make a dandy sister-in-law for you, wouldn't she?"

"Forgot it!" said Eliza sharply. "That's rank insubordination!" Omar Kingman snatched her from the bridge and tried to die for her. He has bought her two acres of the most expensive roses and he remembers the date of her birthday. Just you keep your hands off."

"How does she feel about him?"

Contest News for Courier Readers

ONE WEEK FROM TODAY AND THE GREAT PRIZE CONTEST WILL BE DECLARED AT END

Eight People Will Share in the Prize Distribution; to be in This Class it Will be Necessary to Make a Hot Finish and Come Under the Wire a Leader Instead of a Follower.

The Courier candidates are nearing the finish wire in the final sprint down the home stretch which will be over when the clock strikes 12 noon on next Saturday, May 20. Every candidate is entered to win. Eight people will share in the prize distribution, and to be one of these it is necessary for you to make a hot finish and come under the wire a leader instead of a follower. The need of continued attention to your campaign has been emphasized. Any lack of interest or effort now will spell defeat for you in great big letters, if while you are slowing up, your rivals for the prizes are adding fuel to their flame of enthusiasm. You must not lose now that you have only a few days remaining, and having put in the time since the start of the campaign securing votes and subscriptions. Make it a matter of the greatest importance to see all your friends and have them give you a six months' subscription. If they have given you a one-year subscription, ask them to give you another year, and make it two. If friends have given you a six-months subscription, ask them to give you another six months. Do not be afraid to ask for favors, as your many friends are eager to help win. Three hundred thousand extra votes are given for each $25 worth of new subscriptions, and one hundred and fifty thousand extra votes are given for each club of $25 worth of old subscriptions turned in or mailed in by 12 o'clock next Wednesday night, at which time the last extra vote offer of the contest comes to a close. Never again will you have such a grand opportunity to get so many votes for subscriptions. Wouldn't it pay you to get a $100 worth of new subscriptions on this offer, if you won one of those big prizes? Ask yourself this question, and then get busy and win. There is very little difference in votes between a score of the leaders for the two grand prizes, and subscriptions are going to be a big factor in determining the winners of the closing day on May 20. One hundred dollars worth of new subscriptions on next Wednesday would give you just 1,200,000 extra votes in addition to the regular votes as per your voting table in subscription books. Now don't you think that you can get busy and at least get from one to four clubs of $25 each or more subscriptions? Remember the time is short and the campaign will soon be over. Hurry, if you want to win one of the big prizes. The big extra offer ends on next Wednesday night. This will be the last extra offer of the contest.

First Grand Prize

Who is going to have the most votes when the final roll is called? That is what it will take to get this great car.

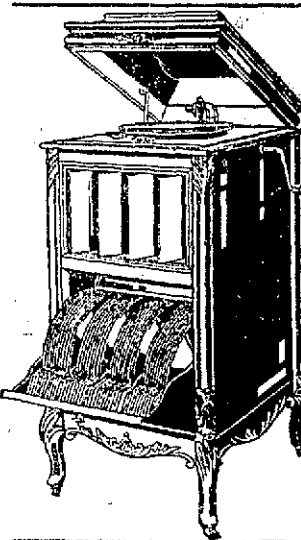

SAXON "SIX"

Second Grand Prize $400 Garden Lot

District First Prize 3 $100 Grafonolas 3

One of these will be given in each district. After the Grand Prizes have been awarded, the Contestant standing highest in each district will each be given a Grafonola.

Purchased from A. A. Clarke, Connellsville, Pa.

District Second Prize 3 $40 Diamond Rings

The Contestant having the second largest number of votes in each district will be awarded a beautiful Diamond Ring.

$$—Cash Commissions—$$

To all those remaining actively in the contest to the finish, turning in as much as $10 in new subscriptions the last week and not winning one of the listed prizes, a cash commission of Ten Per Cent. will be paid them on all subscriptions turned in by them.

Tender Teeth—the first sign of Pyorrhea

See your dentist twice yearly. Use Senreco twice daily.

Your dentist will tell you, if you ask him, that you have gum recession; and that gum recession is caused by pyorrhea.

Unchecked, pyorrhea will warp and shrink and deform the gums. It will break down the bony structure into which the teeth are set—and you will eventually lose them. To save your teeth you will have to begin to fight this dread disease at once.

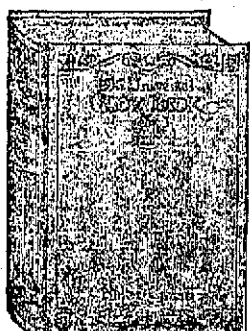

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for $25 is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today; or send in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Senreco Remedies Company, 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

120,000 ACCIDENTS

Have Occurred Since New Compensation Law Went Into Effect.

There have been 120,000 accidents to workers in the mines, industrial plants, or those employed by public service corporations in Pennsylvania since the workmen's compensation act went into effect January 1. Eight hundred and eighteen resulted fatally, 335 deaths being due to mine disasters, 220 to accidents in industrial work and 113 victims being men employed by public service companies. Of the entire number of cases reported to the State Department of Labor and Industry only 276 have resulted in contests before the workmen's compensation board, all the others being settled by the employers.

No Borough Manager.
Judge A. D. McConnell of Westmoreland county, has rendered a decision setting aside an ordinance passed by the borough of Vandergrift creating the office of borough manager.

The court finds that the council has no right to delegate the managerial powers to a single individual or to employ a man for such a position. Other boroughs in the state have employed managers but this is the first time the question has been in the courts.
